GOD'S WORD TODAY

No one alive can tell us what heaven is like. Today's scriptures give us an image to assist us in envisioning what it will be like when we rest in God's eternal presence. The banquet is a fitting image in so many ways. First of all, there are invitations issued to this banquet. Through our Baptism, we received an engraved invitation. We should be spending our lives preparing for the banquet, but other invitations come our way and distract us, luring us away from the great feast. Some people never accept the invitation. Others lose it along the way. And others simply say, "I cannot come." Today's scriptures are among the most challenging we ever hear because they ask us to examine our priorities. We know that everything in this world will pass away. Yet because of the sinful human condition, we hold on to things as if they will grant us salvation. Today is a day to rediscover the invitation to the banquet if it has been lost. Today is a day to let our hearts rejoice in the promise of the glorious banquet to come.
